The XXVII Italian National Congress of Entomology (CNIE) will be held June 12-16, 2023 in the city of Palermo. The opening and subsequent congress days will be held at the University Campus, Teaching Pole of the University of Palermo. Scientific contributions in oral or poster form will be placed in 13 scientific sessions. The number of sessions and the topics covered prove to the existence of the different lines of research, thanks also to an increasingly intense exchange with the international scientific community. The XXVII CNIE will conclude with an entomological excursion to the Madonie Natural Park.
